COUNTRY ALL RIGHT

A STRIKINGLY STRONG ARTICLE BY COL. HARVEY.

THE WRITER SEES NO CLOUD

"A Plea for the Conservation of Common Sense" That is Meeting With Cordial Approval.

A strikingly strong article by Colonel George Harvey in the North American Review, for September, is written in a view of such hopefulness for the American future that it has attracted wide attention. The article is entitled, "A Plea for the Conservation of Common Sense" and it is meeting with the cordial approval of business men of all shades of political opinion throughout the entire country. In part Colonel Harvey says:

"Unquestionably a spirit of unrest dominates the land. But, if it be true that fundamentally the condition of the country is sound, must we necessarily succumb to despondency, abandon effort looking to retrieval and cringe like cravens before clouds that only threaten? Rather, ought we not to analyze conditions, search for causes, find the root of the distress, which even now exists only in men's minds, and then, after the American fashion, apply such remedies as seem most likely to produce beneficial results?"

Capital and Labor Not Antagonistic.

"The Link that connects labor with capital is not broken but we may not deny that it is less cohesive than it should be or than conditions warrant. Financially, the country is stronger than ever before in its history. Recovery from a panic so severe as that of three years ago was never before so prompt and comparatively complete. The masses are practically free from debt. Money is held by the banks in abundance and rates are low.

"Why, then, does capital pause upon the threshold of investment? The answer, we believe, to be plain. It awaits adjustment of the relations of government to business. * * * The sole problem consists of determining how government can maintain an even balance between aggregations of interests, on the one hand, and the whole people, on the other, protecting the latter against extortion and saving the former from bad assaults. "The solution is not easy to find for the simple reason that the situation is without precedent. But is not progress being made along sane and cautious lines? * * *

Conserve Common Sense.

"Is not the present, as we have seen, exceptionally secure? What, then, of preparations for the future? Patriotism is the basis of our institutions. And patriotism in the minds of our youth is no longer linked solely with fireworks and deeds of daring. It is taught in our schools. A new course has been added—a course in loyalty. Methodically, our children learn how to vote, how to conduct primaries, conventions and elections, how to discriminate between qualifications of candidates and, finally, how to govern as well as serve. They are taught to despise bribery and all forms of corruption and fraud as treason. Their creed, which they are made to know by heart, is not complex. It is simple, but comprehensive, no less beautiful in diction than lofty in aspiration. These are the pledges which are graven upon their memories:

"As it is cowardly for a soldier to run away from battle, so it is cowardly for any citizen not to contribute his share to the well-being of his country. America is my own dear land; she nourishes me, and I will love her and do my duty to her, whose child, servant and civil soldier I am.

"As the health and happiness of my body depend upon each muscle and nerve and drop of blood doing its work in its place, so the health and happiness of my country depend upon each citizen doing his work in his place.

"These young citizens are our hostages to fortune. Can we not safely assume that the principles animating their lives augur well for the permanency of the Republic? When before have the foundation stones of continuance been laid with such care and promise of durability? "The future, then, is bright. And the present? But one thing is needful. No present movement is more laudable than that which looks to conservation of natural resources. But let us never forget that the greatest inherent resource of the American people is Common Sense. Let that be conserved and applied with utmost care, and soon it will be found that all the ills of which we complain but know not of are only such as attend upon the growing pains of a great and blessed country.

Spiritualization.

Religion should be native. It should be concrete and applicable. Religion is the natural expression of living, not a set of actions or of habits, or a posture of the mind added to the daily life. The type of religion, therefore, is conditioned on the kind of living, and the kind of living is conditioned, in its turn, very largely on the physical and economic effectiveness of life. The religion of the open country should run deep into the indigenous affairs of the open country.

Immune.

"I never worry about my health any more."

"How lucky you are. Don't you ever feel ill?"

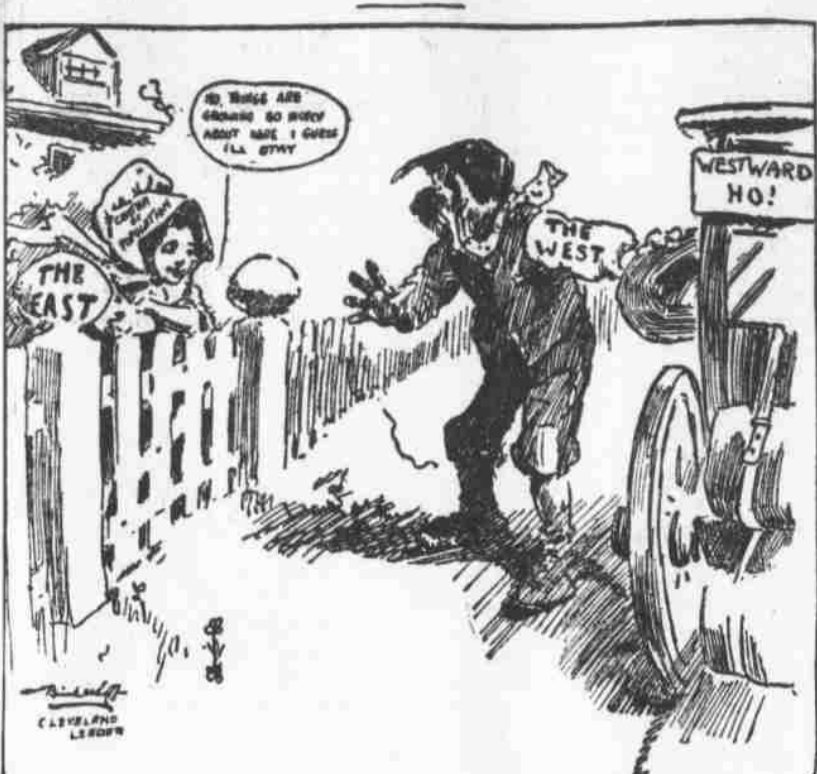

"Oh, yes, often; but I've had all the operations it is possible to undergo."

Of Course.

"They say a woman always reads a love story backward."

"I take no stock in that claim. If so, the managers would be giving plays with the last act first."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

WHAT! NOT GOING?

BROWNE IS WINNER

LEGISLATOR FREED FROM BRIBERY CHARGE RENOMINATED IN ILLINOIS PRIMARY.

CONGRESSMAN BOUTELL LOST

Foss Has Close Call—Cannon Has Overwhelming Vote—Most of Republicans Who Voted for Lorimer Are Renominated.

Chicago.—In the Illinois primaries Thursday Frederick H. Gansberger defeated Congressman Henry Sherman Boutell for the Republican nomination for congress in the Ninth district.

George E. Foss, another of the veterans from Chicago, had a narrow call in the Tenth district. Late returns indicated that G. P. Englehardt was leading by 100 votes, with nearly fifty precincts to hear from.

As most of the missing precincts are from the farming district in Lake county, Foss' friends declared that his nomination was certain, although by a much smaller vote than was expected.

With the exception of the Ninth and Tenth districts, the Republican congressmen from Cook county were renominated without a break.

In the districts outside of Chicago the chief items of Republican interest were the nominations of George W. Conn, Jr., of Woodstock in the Eleventh district, over Ira J. Copley and John C. McKenzie of Elizabeth in the Thirteenth district.

McKenzie will run for the place now filled in congress by Congressman Frank O. Lowden.

In the Eighteenth district, Speaker Joseph G. Cannon won in a walk, his opponent, Henry B. Downs, hardly getting into the race. The other Republican incumbents throughout the state were renominated with little trouble.

The hardest fight for the Democrats came in the Fourth district, where State Senator Rainey and Congressman McDermott ran a neck and neck race. McDermott, however, won by a comfortable plurality.

Incomplete returns indicate that the men who voted for William Lorimer for senator in the general assembly, both Republican and Democratic, gained a sweeping victory.

Even the men who were drawn into the "jackpot" investigation have been renominated by overwhelming majorities except in perhaps two instances.

Representative Lee O'Neil Browne outdistanced all his competitors in La Salle county.

State Senator John Broderick, under indictment in Sangamon county, won by a vote of almost 2 to 1.

Robert E. Wilson, in the Sixth district, also won handsily.

Speaker Shurtliff was renominated by a plurality of more than 3,000 votes.

Late returns indicate that the Legislative Voters' league was badly beaten throughout nearly all the precincts in Chicago. It was in this field that the league made its hardest fight.

GALE POWERS FOR CONGRESS

IS NOMINATED BY REPUBLICANS IN 11TH KENTUCKY DISTRICT.

Served Eight Years in Prison for Complicity in Murder of Governor Gobel.

Lexington, Ky. — In the primary of the Republicans of the Eleventh congressional district Caleb Powers, who for eight years was a state's prisoner on the charge of complicity in the murder of Gov. William Gobel on the streets of Frankfort January 29, 1900, defeated Don C. Edwards, the present incumbent.

Since Powers was freed by a pardon from Governor Willson, the mountaineers have stood by him, believing him to be a political martyr and despite all influences that could be brought to bear on him by the followers of Edwards they returned Powers to the Republican nominee by a large majority. Money was spent freely on both sides, it is said.

The indications are that when all returns are received Powers will be nominated by 5,000. Much trouble was had at the polls among the adherents of the two principals and at Grape Vine, Squire Colwell shot and killed John Holmes. Trouble arose over the election and the killing resulted.

Mountaineers who have considered Powers as a political martyr stood by him in the election, giving him a large majority.

The fight for the nomination has been the most bitter in the history of Kentucky and it was feared that the followers of Powers and Edwards would come to open conflict, but aside from the trouble at Grape Vine, no shooting occurred.

TRAPPED BY IMMUNITY STORY

Ex-Teller of the U. S. Subtreasury at Chicago is Arrested on Embezzlement Charge.

Chicago.—The federal grand jury has again indicted George W. Fitzgerald, who was formerly assistant teller at the United States sub-treasury in this city, on the charge of embezzling $173,000 from the government.

Fitzgerald was arrested in his office Wednesday by the federal authorities.

Fitzgerald is said to have been trapped by a story given out some time ago that the statute of limitations intervened and that whoever committed the theft was immune from prosecution. This story is declared to have been circulated for the express purpose of misleading Fitzgerald.

William Boldenweck, under whom Fitzgerald served, sent his resignation as sub-treasurer to President Taft September 8. He is to leave office September 17 and to be succeeded by Len Small of Kankakee. He denied that his resignation had anything to do with the disappearance of the $173,000.

Senator Nelson declared that he might call another meeting of the committee before congress convenes.

POISON KILLED HER

SCIENTIST ON STAND IN CRIPPEN CASE DECLARES HE FOUND NO OTHER CAUSE.

WOMEN CROWD THE COURT

Many Remove Their Hats So Those in Rear May Not Miss a Move of Trembling Girl Prisoner—Dentist Retains Jaunty Air.

London.—On the resumption of the trial of Dr. Hawley H. Crispin and his victim, Ethel Levene, charged with the slaying of the former's wife, Belle Elmore, the actress, Dr. William Henry Hogg, scientific analyst to the home office, who discovered poison in the body found in Crispin's residence, went on the witness stand and swore that death was caused by the deadly drug.

The physician described the nature of the medium used and said that from a quarter to half a grain would prove fatal. He had found two-sevenths of a grain after a lapse of four to eight months, and judged that more than half a grain had been administered. He found no other cause of death and expressed the opinion that the victim survived the dose an hour or more.

Before Doctor Wilcox was called the crown introduced medical testimony to corroborate that given on Wednesday by Prof. Augustus J. Pepper, pathologist of the University of London, who swore that the body had been disfigured by one familiar with the science of anatomy.

The gruesome exhibits and the unpleasant character of the testimony at the last session did not deter the curious from struggling to get into the Bow street police court, and the section apportioned to the public was crowded. The spectators included the usual array of fashionably dressed women, and these thoughtfully removed their hats, that those seated behind them might not miss a move of the trembling girl in the dock or of her companion in durance, whose jaunty air only adds to the morbid interest in the case.

CHANLER GIVES ALL TO DIVA

Lawyers File Cavallieri Ante-Nuptial Agreement Between Opera Singer and New Yorker.

New York.—The prenuptial agreement between Mme. Lina Cavallieri, the opera singer, and Robert Winthrop Chanler, the terms of which have been the subject of many divergent reports of disagreements between them, of the old Astor family and the Italian diva, was filed Friday in the register's office by counsel for the singer.

The agreement recites that in consideration of the intended marriage and of the sum of $1 that Mr. Chanler gives to Mme. Cavallieri "all those three farms, known respectively as Cole farm, Chowell and Benna farm in Red Hook, N. Y., approximately 350 acres and subject to a mortgage of $600,000.

The agreement further provides that Mr. Chanler turns over to Mme. Cavallieri the land and buildings in New York city situated in several parts of the city, comprising in all thirty pieces of property, and concludes, "and all other realty forming part of the share of the above-named Robert Winthrop Chanler, in and to the estate of the late Mrs. Laura Delano, subject to a mortgage of $140,000."

The agreement further provides that Mr. Chanler agrees to pay the yearly sum of $20,000 to Mme. Cavallieri during her life, by four quarterly installments of $5,000 a quarter, the first of which shall be paid within thirty days from the marriage.

It was agreed that the property of each of them, both personal and future, should remain the separate property and under the sole control of each of them.

ENDS WAR ON INSURGENTS

President Taft Declares That Patronage Door Will Hereafter Be Open to All Sides.

Beverly, Mass.—No difference between so-called "Progressives" and "Regulars" will be recognized by President Taft hereafter, but all party leaders will be treated alike as Republicans in the matter of federal support. The president's views to this effect are given in a letter from Secretary Norton to a Republican leader of Iowa, whose name is not disclosed.

In the letter Secretary Norton stated that while important Republican legislation pending in congress was opposed by certain Republican leaders, the president felt that his duty required him to withhold federal patronage from senators and representatives who seemed to occupy a position hostile to efforts to fulfill the pledges of the party platform.

That attitude on the part of the president ended, however, with the more recent primary elections and the nominating conventions to which the people have declared themselves, and the president now looks upon "Progressives" and "Regulars" alike as Republicans and as such entitled to his support and the support of the party, and the fall elections, Secretary Norton's letter says, must settle the question whether the differences of the last session of congress shall be perpetuated or forgotten.

Among those from whom it is said the president temporarily withheld federal patronage were Senators La Follette, Bristow, Dooliver and Cummins and Representative Hubbard of Iowa.

Professor Pepper declared, however, that the body, believed to be that of Dr. H. H. Crispin's wife, Belle Elmore, had been dismembered by a hand skilled in surgery and directed by a mind that possessed a real knowledge of anatomy.
